Dr. Eloy Rodríguez is in his 15th year of practice as an ophthalmic micro-surgeon. With over 5,000+ patients treated for cataracts, Dr. Rodríguez is one of the most experienced local surgeons specializing in treatment of patients with cataracts and diabetic retinopathies. Dr. Rodríguez attended the UAT school of medicine in Matamoros and completed his residency in Ophthalmology and Micro-surgery at the Unidad de Alta Especialidades IMSS #25 in Monterrey. He is trained in phacoemulsification, the most modern cataract surgical technique and he utilizes state of the art equipment and innovative bio-tech products (such as the anti-angiogenic intraocular vaccines) for the treatment of eye complications related to diabetes. Ninety-nine percent of Dr. Rodríguez's surgeries are performed in an ambulatory setting using local anesthesia. Dr. Rodríguez has extensive experience in corrective eye surgery such as CustomVue LASIK, ReSTOR lens implants and laser & AGV implant treatments for glaucoma. He is a regular participant in medical conferences throughout Latin America and has participated in the Bascom Palmer Eye Institute's (#1 Eye Hospital in the US) Inter-American Continuing Medical Education conferences for ten consecutive years.
